It's of-fish-ial, SEA LIFE San Antonio, the new aquarium that's been making waves recently, is now open at The Shops at Rivercenter.

The downtown destination hosted a grand opening on Tuesday after multiple setbacks. The aquarium features 10 interactive zones including the city's only underwater ocean tunnel where guests will have the chance to come "face to fin" and "dive into the ocean without getting wet," as the company describes it.

There's also a stingray bay and seahorse mangrove exhibit.

The anticipation for the new attraction has been building for years. It was originally scheduled to open May 2019, then the grand opening was pushed back to the summer and then the fall. Eventually, February 2020 was set as the debut, but the opening was stalled again throughout the pandemic-wrought year.

Tickets are available online for the aquarium's inaugural week. Prices start at $23.99 per person. Most visits through what the website calls a "magical underwater world" last about an hour.
